My Lord,

I have the honour to enclose herewith copy of a despatch and its enclosures which I have received from Mr. G. Litton, His Majesty's Consul at Tengyueh, applying for fifteen months furlough from February or March next year.

Mr. Litton will not have completed five years' residence until October, 1906, but in view of the enfeebled state of his health, I have thought proper to grant his request; and I have accordingly informed him that he may proceed to England on leave of absence on sick certificate on the arrival at Tengyueh of Mr. H. A. Ottewill, whom I have instructed to relieve him.

Sir:-

I regret to have to apply for fifteen months furlough on Medical Certificate from such date in February or March 1906 as you can conveniently relieve me.

I shall not have completed five years service till the autumn of 1906, but as you are aware, my duties in Yunnan during the last four years have been heavy and have entailed much physical labour in travelling through difficult and sometimes unhealthy country. My health is now such that it is only with increasing difficulty that I can perform my official duties, and there is I fear, little chance of any improvement without a complete rest. I am in particular troubled with an increasing deafness for which I underwent special treatment when I was last in Europe, and I was then warned that my hearing might become permanently affected if I was not careful to seek the advice of a specialist in the event of any prolonged recurrence of the trouble. Under these circumstances I feel I ought not to remain in China, if and when you are able to relieve me of my duties here.

In support of my application I attach Medical Certificate by the Consulate Hospital Assistant and extract of a letter from Major Barry, I.M.S., who treated me when I was in Burma and has since advised me by letter. Since the date of this letter my health has deteriorated.

In principle there can be no doubt that selection for promotion by merit is right, but it is unfortunate that a beginning should have been made by passing over Mr. Hillier. Whatever mistake favorably mentioned by Sir E. Satow himself, and has earned the commendation of the Viceroys of India by the good work he did with the Tibet Expedition and in the Subsequent negotiations with Tang. There can be no doubt that he is fully qualified for promotion, and he feels keenly the loss of "face" he will incur in China by some one being promoted over his head.

If this little incident with the Japanese

My dear Cockerell,

I am sending you
copy of a despatch
and private letter from Litton, in which he refuses to be made Consul at Têngyüeh
on the ground that he cannot accept promotion over the heads of his seniors.
The Chief Clerk will be able to show you

a despatch from Litton of July 1, in which he gives similarly eccentric reasons for not drawing acting pay as Consul-general at Yünnanfu when acting there. I sometimes think Litton is a little off his head, and these efforts at dictating how appointments are to be made and enrolments to be distributed rather confirm that view.

138

The Consular service of course is in favour of promotion by strict seniority, because then the indolent and the dull
are at no disadvantage.
I maintain on the contrary that promotion
to the rank of consul must be by selection of the fittest, and that the question who is fittest for a particular post involves a number of considerations.

Wilton has been telegraphing to me from Simla that he understands he has been passed over, and asking on what grounds. I have not answered these telegrams. He is in my opinion a very lucky fellow to have seen Lhasa, and the only man who goes over his head is Litton, whose promotion I recommended for what seemed to me excellent reasons. If Wilton wishes to grumble, he had better do it to the F. O.,

(973) (139)

but it would be wiser
of him not to do it.
When he was acting at Chungking he committed a serious neglect of duty in not reporting
the sentence passed on the murderer of Fleming in Kweichow, a sentence which was very inadequate.
But I have not reported him to the F.O.

Yours sincerely

N.B.

(There is some scope
in 1907 at the Williston location. The "previous neglect of duty" imputed to him in L.S. Salata's private letter seems to have been imputed to him quite wrongly.)

Consular.

My Lord,

I have the honour to enclose copy of a despatch from Mr. G. Litton requesting to be allowed to decline the appointment of His Majesty's Consul at Tengyueh, for reasons which, as he mentions, he had already submitted to me in a private letter. It is therefore necessary to add a copy of that letter.

From Tengyueh
Separate
October 7, 1905.

From Mr. Litton
Private
August 20, 1905

It will be seen that the ground on which Mr. Litton declines to accept this appointment is that it amounts to his being promoted over the heads of his colleagues, especially over that of Mr. Tours. I have no reason to suppose that Mr. Tours is dissatisfied with Mr. Litton's appointment, and in my despatch Number 55, Consular, of April 14th., I gave my reasons for recommending that the post should be given to Mr. Litton. Mr. Tours in fact entered the China Consular Service on March 7, 1893, while Mr. Litton was appointed to the Straits Settlement in 1891, so

so that the latter has served the public some two years more than the former.

It is however, I venture to submit, not seniority that should be looked at in selecting officers for certain posts, but capacity and special fitness. There can be no doubt, it seems to me, that for the appointments of Consul-General at either Shanghai, Canton, Hankow or Tientsin, the best man should be chosen from among those who have attained the rank of Consul, and that the same rule should also be applied with regard to the appointments at Chengtu and Yunnanfu. For a —Consulate in the remote interior again, a married man is evidently unsuitable, unless he is willing to send his wife and children home and proceed to his post alone: but that for many reasons is an unsatisfactory arrangement. In Mr. Litton's case there was the further reason for choosing him that he is thoroughly acquainted with the local affairs of Tengyueh and has already done excellent service there.

It is of course open to any officer to decline promotion, but while recognizing the generous feeling which leads Mr. Litton to refuse the post on the ground that it would confer on him promotion over his seniors, it does not appear desirable to 142

973
JAN 8 1906

to encourage the idea that Members of the Consular Service may indicate to His Majesty's Secretary of State the principles upon which promotion ought to be conferred.

In the present instance accordingly I propose to abstain from recommending any other gentleman to fill the office of Consul at Tengyueh until I shall have learnt the view of the general question entertained by Your Lordship.

I have the honour to be,

with the highest respect,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient,

Sir:-

I have the honour to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your despatch, of June 28th, informing me that I am appointed to be His Majesty's Consul at Tengyueh.

While asking permission to express my respectful thanks to you for having recommended my name for this post, I have already submitted to you in a private letter, the reasons for which I must request to be permitted to decline, at the present time, the substantive appointment. I venture to hope that these reasons will appear to you to be just and sufficient. I must also express my regret that, owing to the long period necessary for postal communication between Peking and Tengyueh, and owing to my ignorance of the conditions under which my name was recommended to His Majesty's Government I was not able to communicate to you at an earlier date the considerations which render it impossible for me to accept the appointment.

Dear Sir Ernest Satow,

I have to express my regret for some trouble which I may have caused to you concerning the appointment to this Consulate for which you very kindly recommended my name. I wish to explain that I had no idea that I was being promoted over any one's head, especially over that of my friend Tours. You were good enough to write a private note to me, in which you said that you thought I had as good a claim as any of those who were entitled to the appointment by mere seniority. I misunderstood this as being a reference to the arrangement by which I originally came into the service in China from the Straits, the result of which was to put me under some officers who entered Government service after me but over some officers who entered the Chinese Consular Service before me.

Had I understood that I was being offered promotion, as I have now ascertained, over the heads of my colleagues I should at once have requested you not to let the matter go further, as it seems to me quite clear that I cannot and ought not to accept any such appointment.

Directly

Oct. 7

Directly I was acquainted with the facts I sent a telegram to Mr. Campbell, and I now beg to confirm to you what I said to him, namely that I can on no account accept the appointment under these circumstances, and I request that the Foreign Office may cancel it. I would venture, most respectfully, to point out that if it is thought that this post requires special experience which I happen to have, it is open to His Majesty's Minister to retain me here in my present capacity, an arrangement which I should have no right or desire to question.

Again expressing my thanks for your kindness in recommending me, even though I am unable to accept the appointment.

Sir,

We beg to thank you for your letter of the 12th inst., announcing the death of Mr. George John Letablere Litton at Kingai, in China, on the 9th inst., and we have duly informed his relatives in accordance with your request.

Mr. Litton made a Will in November, 1897, of which his Cousin Mr. F. G. Barker (who will bring you this letter) is one of the Executors, and Mr. Ronald Peake of this firm, the other.

We have no reason to suppose that there is a subsequent Will, but before the Executors named in the Will which we have, apply for Probate, we think that it should be ascertained that the late Mr. Litton left no subsequent Will in China. Is it possible for you to ascertain by Telegram if there is any later Will in the hands of your representatives in China? or if you prefer it, will you give us the address of the Official with whom we should communicate?..

We are, Sir,

Your obedient servants.

For steps to be taken to wind up estate, say that the Supreme Court at Shanghai will deal with the matter & refer them to Arts 103-112 of the China & Great O-in-C, enclosing copy.

C.C. as to amount of salary due.

G.W. 6/2/06.

Mr Litton drew his salary locally & presumably it was paid within up to Dec 31 last. If this were so there is only a small balance due from Jan 1 to Jan 9 the date of death.
But this is subject to any adjustments that may be necessary on the Shanghai Account.

17th February, 1906.

Reference No. 4607.

Sir, We thank you for your letter of the 14th inst.

As we mentioned in our letter of the 15th January last., the late Mr. George Litton made a Will on the 16th November 1897. This Will was drawn by us, and in accordance with Mr. Litton's express instructions was prepared in duplicate so that one copy could be kept with his papers in China and the other copy could be returned to us. The two copies were sent to him, and on the 17th November 1897 he wrote to us from Chungking returning one copy duly signed and he stated in his letter that he retained the other copy; he further asked us to note that he had made a short Codicil in China which had reference to certain affairs of his out there. Although we have been constantly in correspondence with him on business matters he has never mentioned that he had revoked his Will and we do not for a moment believe that he has done so.

You state in your letter of the 14th inst., however, that a Will had been forwarded from Teng Yueh to the Supreme Court in Shanghai and no doubt this is the Will we prepared, the duplicate copy of which we hold in England. Are you able to tell us whether this document will be forwarded from the Supreme Court in Shanghai to the Executors named who are in England, and if not what course will be adopted.

Your letter further states that the Estate will be wound up in due course by the Supreme Court in Shanghai under the provisions of Articles 103-112 of the China and Corea Order in Council 1904, a copy of which you are good enough to enclose.

We presume this to mean that Mr. Litton's personal Estate in China only, will be administered by the Supreme Court at Shanghai, leaving the Will to be proved in the ordinary course by the Executors named therein in the English Courts, and we shall be glad if you can tell us whether this is so. Our clients the Executors, are anxious to learn as soon as possible whether it is the fact (as we suppose) that the Will referred to in your letter of the 14th inst., is the duplicate Will of which we have the original copy here, and it occurs to us that the quickest way in which this can be ascertained will be to send a copy of the Will we hold to His Majesty's Minister at Peking with a request that he will telegraph back whether the Will he has is the duplicate copy. Will the Foreign Office kindly undertake to ~~send~~ send a copy out to His Majesty's Minister if we send one to you for that purpose?

We may mention that it is a matter of some urgency that it should be ascertained as soon as possible whether the Will made in 1897 is the last Will or not; Mr. George Litton left an annuity under that Will to his father who is of advanced years and of small means, and it is a matter of the greatest importance that he should know whether any, and if any, what provisions have been made for him by his son.

We regret to have to trouble you so fully in this matter but the circumstances are somewhat peculiar and it is difficult to know what is the best to be done under the circumstances.

We are, Sir,

Your obedient servants.

Yunnan Fu, January 15th, 1906.

Received February 20th, 1906.

Sir,

It is with the deepest regret that I report to you the death of Mr. George Litton, His Majesty's Consul at Tengyueh. He died, - as I learnt only last night by a telegram from <sup>Mr</sup> Napier, Assistant in charge of the Tengyueh Customs, - on the 9th instant, of fever, at Kan-ngai, a Shan town about halfway between Tengyueh and the Burma frontier.

My latest letters from Mr. Litton are dated Tengyueh, December 15th, and "Survey Camp near Kangai", December 26th. The former begins, "I got back two days ago, and am very tired and knocked up" the latter ends, "I have had too much work and not enough play lately".

Mr. Litton, as you are aware, spent November and part of December in an endeavour to explore the trackless country along the 'Nmaikha-Salwen watershed, between his northernmost point attained last spring, and the borders of Wei Hsi Sub-Prefecture. The general results of this, his last of many adventurous and successful journeys, he communicated to me in the telegram of which I submitted to you an abstract on the 11th December. In that telegram

he

he spoke of the "great hardships" he had suffered; and it is evident that he returned to Tengyueh very much debilitated. Nevertheless he pushed on almost at once to meet near the frontier the party of engineers from Burma who are engaged in surveying for the proposed Bhamo-Tengyueh railway, and it is, it would seem, in their camp that he died.

As was his wont he had allowed himself no rest. "I have been terribly busy" he wrote on December 26th, "with the Salwen Report, the survey etc. etc." The Salwen Report, last of a long series unsurpassed in interest and value since the days of Colborne Baber, was, I trust, completed before Mr. Jitton's death, and will, I hope, be now on its way to the Legation through this Consulate-General.

Mr. Napier is charging himself with all necessary arrangements for the funeral, and I have suggested to him, in my telegram of acknowledgment, that, if possible, Mr. Jitton's body should rest in the Bhamo cemetery, alongside the grave of Baber, whose work in Western China he took up and for these past ten years so worthily pursued. Mr. Jitton was, I believe, an orphan, with no near relatives whose wishes could be consulted in this matter.

I have begged Mr. Napier to seal up all that is important among the effects at the Tengyueh Consulate, pending the arrival of Mr. Ottewill. The latter is, I gather, still in Burma, but I have telegraphed to the Rangoon Government requesting that he may be asked to inform me by telegram of his movements.

I have etc.

With reference to my telegram to you of January 12th.

Enclosure in Sir E. Satow's No. 47, Consular of April 5, 1906.

Mr. Acting Consul Ottewill to Sir E. Satow.

Copy.

Tengyueh, February 7th, 1906.

P. A. No. 2.

Sir:-

I regret to report the death of Mr. G. Litton, His Majesty's Consul here. The sad event occurred on the 9th of January near Kan-ai on the main road from Bhamo while he was returning from Simapa where he had been to consult with the Civil Officer, Mr. Wilson, as to some raids by Kachin Chinese on British territory.

The last European to see him alive was Mr. Mengel, of the Imperial Chinese Telegraphs, who met him at Manwyne on the 6th January. He has informed me that Mr. Litton seemed to be well, but complained of a red mark on his right shoulder which looked like a blister. Neither of them attached much importance to it. From Manwyne, Mr. Litton made slow stages towards Tengyueh and died about three miles this side of Kan-ai. Messages had been sent ahead to the Railway survey camp and to the Consulate informing them that he was ill. On receipt of the message,

Captain

Captain Watt Smythe of the Railway survey, hurried to meet him, and took his native doctor with him. They met the chair on the road, but Mr. Litton was already dead. The body was hurried up to the Consulate, Captain Watt Smythe accompanying the cortege. Thanks to the good offices of the Honourable C. Napier, the Commissioner of Customs, and Mr. G. Forrest, who was staying at the Consulate, a coffin was prepared and the funeral arranged for the next day, January 11th. The Chinese officials allowed the funeral procession to pass through the city from the East Gate to the South Gate, and accompanied it themselves to the grave which is in the Customs Cemetery outside the South Gate.

I have the honour to enclose herewith a certificate of death, and a Report both signed by Dr. Ram Lall Sircar, the Medical Officer attached to this Consulate. The Doctor gives it as his opinion that Mr. Litton died from erysipelas attended with high fever.

As you are aware Mr. Litton had been ill for the last few months, and was on the point of proceeding to Europe for medical treatment, but in spite of his illness he had recently made three long journeys and was contemplating a further one.

His

His devotion to his duties as Consul, and desire for original and accurate information forced him to undertake long and arduous journeys which in his bad state of health enfeebled his constitution to such an extent that it was unable to withstand the disease to which he fell a victim. By his death the Government have lost the services of an Officer whose efficiency and capability are well known to you, and one who placed his life and health at stake in the execution of his duties; while his present friends will deplore his too early death. He was an intrepid explorer and had greatly extended the world's knowledge of the province of Yunnan of which he had made a special study and on which he had become the greatest living authority.

In conclusion I desire to place on record the good offices of Mr. G. Forrest and especially of the Honourable C. Napier and the members of his staff with regard to the arrangement for Mr. Litton's funeral and their care of the property lying in the Consulate, both official and private, during the period between his unfortunate death and my arrival.

I have &c.,

Clinical Note about the late Mr. G. Litton.

Previous history: Since last three years of my service at the Consulate, Mr. Litton had been often complaining of giddiness, buzzing noise in the left ear, dyspepsia, and occasional fainting. Mr. Litton told me that a French doctor at Yunnanfu diagnosed his disease as "anaemia of the brain" caused by malaria, and the doctor accordingly prescribed Liq. Arsenicalis mixture. Mr. Litton continued this treatment for many months which gave him some temporary relief, but all the symptoms appeared again. My diagnosis was that the buzzing noise in the ear and the feeling of giddiness was due to gastric disorders. I treated him for this for a short time which also gave him some relief.

A few months ago Mr. Litton told me again that Dr. Barry, Civil Surgeon of Maymyo, told him that a bad throat was the cause of his suffering from giddiness and noise in the ear. So the doctor advised him to continue Liq. ~~Arsenicalis~~ Arsenicalis with a view to improve his general health and to take certain inhalation as well in order to improve the condition of his throat. This treatment was continued by him till the end of last year.

After

After his return from the Salween valley during the last December, Mr. Litton suffered from slight attacks of fever and diarrhoea. These being cured he left for the Burma frontier.

Present History: Mr. Litton's head servant who attended on him during his illness gave me the following history: He said that till the 11th. day of Chinese moon (5th. January, 1906) Mr. Litton was well, and often he used to go out for shooting. On this day he was at Tai-phing-kai village, 6th. January, he came at Manshien village. In the morning he complained of pain on the right side of his chest, upper part, and there was a red spot on the upper front part of ~~the~~ chest where he complained of pain. In the morning he took usual food and his bowels moved and he passed urine as usual. In the evening he complained of increased pain, and the area of redness was also increased. He had slight fever at night, and took some congee as evening meal. 7th January: Pain was very severe and the redness of the skin extended upwards and downwards. A feeling of hot sensation was complained of in the affected part. Bowels moved scantily, urine was normal, occasional vomiting, high fever, no sleep at night, could not take any food food except little congee and soup. He was brought to Man-ch'ang-kai 8th January. The redness of the skin extended downward to thigh and upward to neck. The affected part of his body was complained of so hot as it was unbearable. Fever very high, vomiting very often, motion of bowels scanty, urine was passed as usual, no sleep at day or night. A plaster made of soap and sugar was put on the right side of chest. Could not take any nourishment. 9th. January. Mr. Litton was very bad, complained of his inability in passing urine. Then, he the head servant, and the others got alarmed, they sent a man to Tengyueh and one man was also sent to the survey party doctor. In this condition he was being carried to Kangai. He could speak a few words when asked. Used to talk some delirious word now and then. He arrived at Kangai at about 11 a.m. and died at 12 noon..

The survey party doctor arrived immediately after his death. We got information at about 9 p.m. of the 9th January, and <sup>we</sup> left at 10 p.m. but we met the body at about 16 miles from Tengyueh.

Postmortem examination:

The body arrived at Tengyueh at about 1 p.m. of 10th January, and the examination was held at about 2 p.m. viz, 26 hours after death.

Rigor mortis present. There was a scratch on the right side of chest about two inches below the collar bone, and also one scratch on the left side of chest. There were no other marks of injuries except some blisters on the right side of chest which the servant said were due to the application of plaster mentioned above. Mouth and eyes were closed, both pupils of the eyes were dilated. The lips were dry and somewhat red in colour, usually noticed in some fever cases. The tongue was dry but not discoloured. The teeth and gum were not covered with <sup>sores</sup> ~~wounds~~. Ear, nose and urethral opening appeared to be in normal condition. There was some faint yellowish <sup>i</sup> ~~taint~~ around the scratches. There was <sup>no</sup> swelling of any glands, and none were found enlarged. There was no redness on the skin of chest. The bladder shewed no sign of distention, and it appeared there was no large quantity of urine in it.

It was not thought advisable to cut the body open and examine the viscera so I am unable to form any opinion about their actual condition,

Opinion

16773

MAY 16 1906

Opinion:

From a close study of the history and symptoms described by the servant as well as the post mortem examination held externally, I have no doubt that Mr. Litton died of simple cutaneous erysipelas attended with very high fever. His previous poor health was also an indirect cause of such a quick fatal end. The invasion probably started from the scratch on the chest mentioned above.
